MEN'S BASKETBALL - 2006-'07 SYNOPSIS

Under the guidance of veteran coach John Dore, the Concordia Stingers men's basketball team ran up an overall record of 24-6 and reached the No. 1 ranking in the CIS for the first time in recent memory.

The Stingers won their second Quebec championship in three years with a convincing 84-57 victory over the Laval Rouge et Or before a capacity crowd at Concordia gym on March 9. They also desposed of the pesky UQAM Citadins by a score of 84-75 in the conference semifinal.

This is the 17th conference title for the Stingers since the university was formed 32 years ago. It is also the 10th provincial championship for the team since head coach John Dore took over the program in the 1989-'90 season.

Concordia ran up a 22-2 record against CIS competition, including a 17-1 romp through the QSSF. The Stingers spent the early part of the season battling top NCAA teams, including Colorado and Colorado State. It was a challenging run with just one win and four losses. But the team thoroughly enjoyed the experience and it helped toughen the Stingers for the CIS season. Coach Dore has a tradition of seeking out top U.S. teams – Duke and Connecticut in 2006 – as part of his season schedule.

The Stingers that will compete in the nationals are athletic, intense and focused – all a reflection of the leadership provided by Patrick Perrotte, a fifth-year power forward and the 2007 QSSF MVP. Perrotte is definitely a player to watch at this championship. The team captain is a five-time QSSF all-star and a 2006 second team all-Canadian. There is no doubt that this team belongs to him. When he shines the Stingers excel.

"Pat is often playing guys six inches taller than him and 30 to 50 pounds heavier and containing them and stopping them," says Dore of his leader. "Pat plays tough and with a lot of passion. He plays with great intensity and has the heart of a lion."

The other fifth-year player on the Stingers is second team all-star Benjamin Sormonte, a dangerous forward/guard who can single-handedly sink opponents with his three-point shooting. He's a poised and intelligent clutch player. This was obvious at the 2005 nationals when he helped the Stingers earn the silver medal and was named to the all-tournament team.

Perrotte and Sormonte have uncanny abilities to motivate and rally Concordia. Much of the 2006-'07 campaign has been about sending the two seniors off as champions. They will definitely be the driving force and the inspiration for the Stingers.

MEN'S BASKETBALL - 2006-'07 SYNOPSIS

There's an exceptional team around Perrotte and Sormonte. Any one of a number of players can step up and take control – point guard Damian Buckley, QSSF defensive player of the year Dwayne Buckley, Andre Johnny who is the toughest sixth man in the CIS, or even Jamal Gallier – Concordia's unassuming big man.

Stingers Insight - Why are the Concordia Stingers successful?

Pat Perrotte: "Our defence is what makes us successful, and we have several weapons on offence. We have great team chemistry. Other teams have two or three strong players and the rest are role players. We're good at all five positions. We're deep. We have more weapons

Ben Sormonte: "We have chemistry on offence and defence. We share the ball offensively and we help each other on defence. We have balance and depth. We work hard. We can run."

Dwayne Buckley: "What makes our team successful is that we take it one game at a time and we play with lots of intensity."

Damian Buckley: "I would describe us as hard working and relentless. We know to be successful we have to work hard as a team. Also, we're very unselfish."

What's the difference between the 2005 team and this one?

Ben Sormonte: "In 2005 and I think we were surprised to be in the final. Now we know what it takes to get there."

Pat Perrotte: "Our goals were different other years. We just wanted to get to the nationals. This year our goal is to win it."

In 2006-'07, John Dore led the Stingers to their third straight first-place finish in the Quebec conference with a 17-1 record (including playoffs) and the No. 1-ranking in the country.

At Concordia University, where he has been the head coach since the 1989-'90 season, Dore has taken the Stingers to the national championship tournament 10 times. He won the national crown in 1990 and placed second in 1995 and 2005.

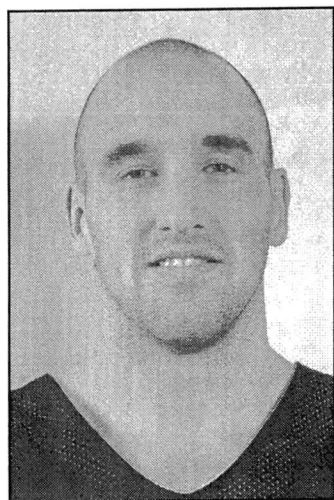

In the fall of 1995, he was named University Coach of the Year by the Foundation for Quebec University Athletics. He has been named the outstanding coach in the Quebec Student Sports Federation conference on 11 occasions, including the 2007 season. In 1991, he was named Men's Basketball Coach of the Year by the CIAU

Dore's involvement in basketball doesn't stop at Concordia University. He has been at the helm of several national teams, including Canadian entries at World University Games (Universiade) and the Maccabiah Games. As well, he was president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches of Canada and an international committee member of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, U.S.A.

Despite all his commitments, Dore also values any time he can spend with young children and teenagers. Perhaps it is because of his 14 years as chairman of the Physical Education Department at St. George's High School and his work with the Quebec provincial team and the Vanier College Cheetahs. Whatever the reasons, Dore never passes on an opportunity to help out at a basketball clinic. In fact, he has his Stingers volunteer at several each season. He encourages all his players to work with children and has seen many of his current players and graduates get involved with groups like the YMCA and Sun Youth.

2005 championship all-star at 2005 nationals
2005 Player of the Game in gold medal game vs. Carleton

Brief Sketch:

• This five-time Quebec all-star is the heart and soul of Concordia basketball both on and off the court. His commitment, drive and discipline have a huge impact on the Stingers who achieved their goal of finishing first in the QSSF with a 15-1 record and ranked No. 1 in the CIS. More than any other player, this team belongs to Pat Perrotte.

• At six-foot-one, 215 pounds he is a highly skilled, undersized power forward who always finds ways to score. He is the Stingers' leading scorer for the third straight year. His 18.1 points a game is third in the QSSF.

• Pat left school after a very successful college career at CEGEP Edouard Montpetit where he was always the leading scorer on his team and a two-time college all-star. For several years, he worked while his wife Isabel finished her degree. When she began her teaching career, he returned to school to pursue his university degree.

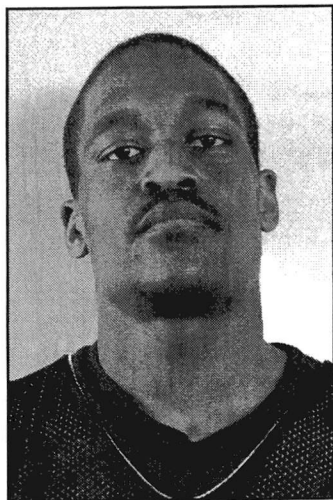

• When Pat came to Concordia five years ago, it was the first time he attended an English school. The unilingual francophone found the early-going challenging since he spoke virtually no English. This year, he will graduate with a BA in Leisure Sciences and a B average.

• Career highlight - Nov. 3, 2005 - When Duke's head coach Mike Krzyzewski shook his hand after Perrotte had scored 17 points versus the Blue Devils in a preseason contest. The coach of the NCAA's No. 1 team told Perrotte, "You're a hell of a player."

Quote from coach John Dore: "Pat will be missed by everyone in our program. First, he is a gentleman on and off the court. He's an exceptional leader with a tremendous work ethic. Pat plays tough and with a lot of passion. His love of the game shines through."

Brief Sketch:

Dwayne is the oldest of Concordia's Buckley brothers. There's 18 months between him and younger brother Damian. With Pat Perrotte and Benjamin Sormonte graduating this spring, the Buckley brothers will be the cornerstones of the program for the next couple of years.

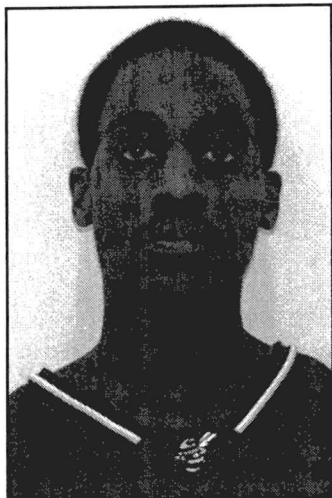

• Dwayne has been a winner with every program he has been involved with. He won three high school Quebec championships and four provincial championships in community basketball with the Sun Youth Organization. At Vanier College, he was the Cheetahs MVP and Male Athlete of the Year in 2004.

• He came to Concordia as a highly-touted rookie. His first year (2005) he was part of Concordia's national championship run that ended with a silver medal in Halifax. In 2006, he was a second team Quebec all-star. This year, he emerged as one of the top players in Quebec, earning first team all-star honors and the outstanding defensive player award.

Quote from coach John Dore: "Dwayne continues to improve every game. He is one of our top offensive players and our stopper. He always guards the toughest player on the opposing team and still finished second in scoring on our team with 16.2 points a game. He has tremendous athletic abilities. He can drive to the net or he can stay outside and shoot 3s. He is going to be a force to reckon with in the years to come."

two-time CCAA all-Canadian

Brief Sketch:

- The Stingers' only conference loss came Jan. 12, 2007 – an 84-71 loss to the UQAM Citadins. Damian Buckley was not in the lineup, and the Stingers struggled without their quarterback.
- The Concordia Stingers were fortunate to land rookie Buckley in the fall of 2005. He had a lot of interest from NCAA schools and seriously considered an offer from a Division 2 school in Florida. It was a difficult choice for him, but eventually he decided to stay and play with the Stingers and brother Dwayne, a first team QSSF all-star.
- Buckley is a two-time CCAA all-Canadian out of the Vanier College basketball program.
- As a rookie in the 2005-'06 season, Buckley led the Stingers in: scoring, rebounding, assists and free throw percentage

Quote from coach John Dore: "With each game he's played, Damian has played better and become a more complete player. As a rookie he had to step in and fill big shoes left by the graduation of all-Canadian guard Phil Langlois. Damian has been our quarterback and leader on the floor. It's a role he's grown into over time. He's very athletic and a very smart player. He's had a big impact on our team, the conference and the CIS."

Brief Sketch:

Sormonte accepted a basketball scholarship at the University of Southern Alabama and played parts of two seasons with the NCAA team, leaving in 2003. He contacted several Canadian schools about pursuing both his studies and basketball. After speaking with John Dore, he decided Concordia University was his best option. He joined the team in January 2004.

Sormonte played on France's junior national team in 1997 and 1998. His brother Julien played professional basketball in Montpellier, France. He also played for San Diego State in the NCAA.

Sormonte is a very dedicated student. He completed a bachelor of commerce at Concordia University in 2005. The following year he left Concordia and basketball to work on a master's degree. He returned this season to expand his finance studies and prepare for law school. He will begin his law studies at McGill University shortly. He spends a lot of time tutoring his fellow teammates.

Sormonte gives Concordia a great outside game. He hit 44 three-pointers in 16 conference games, which was just one behind Laval's Jean-Michel Leblanc in the Quebec league. On Feb. 23 in a 102-63 win over the UQAM Citadins, Sormonte hit for a season-high seven 3s.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Ben is extremely intelligent and versatile. He's played all five positions for us. He shoots the three, he penetrates well, he passes well and he's underrated as a defensive player. He is a complete player

• Jamal Gallier follows in the footsteps of his older brother Bryan Daley, who had an outstanding career at Concordia as a defensive lineman with the Stingers football team in the late 1990s, including the Vanier Cup challenge in 1998. Daley is now in his second season as defensive line coach with the Stingers.

• Despite playing only 18 minutes a game, Gallier is the second leading rebounder on the Stingers with 5.2 a game. Dwayne Buckley, who plays 31 minutes a game, is the leading rebounder with a 6.3 average.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Jamal is another player that has really improved. You can expect him to be our leading rebounder and score in double digits down the stretch. He moves extremely well for a guy his size and has great hands.

22	16	38	2.4		14	18	13

Brief Sketch:

- Johnny averages 18.8 minutes a game as Concordia's sixth man. He's the toughest sixth man in the CIS. He's good enough to start on most teams in the CIS. He gracefully accepts his role on the Stingers.

- He has worked very hard to get himself in good condition. Part of his regime includes boxing training at former champion Otis Grant's gym.

- During the summer, Johnny volunteers as a basketball coach at Sun Youth, a comprehensive non-profit community centre that serves the disadvantaged. He works with a midget boys summer team that trains and goes to tournaments in Montreal and in the U.S. Johnny is very demanding on his athletes and puts a lot of emphasis on defence because that's the way he plays. He also runs basketball clinics for under-privileged youth with former Stinger teammate Rastko Popovic.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Andre is first off the bench – our super sub. He is the most versatile player we have coming off the bench. Offensively, he plays both the perimeter and the post. He is very strong defensively. Andre is definitely a guy you want on your team because he is tough as nails.

Brief Sketch:

• Vann transferred to Concordia after 1.5 years with the Saskatchewan Huskies basketball program. He joined the Stingers in September 2006 but was only eligible to play in late December. In 11 conference games Vann averaged 10.5 minutes and five points.

• Vann's father was an accomplished football player. Cleveland played football for the Saskatchewan Roughriders after finishing his three-year college career as an all-American linebacker (1973) at Oklahoma State. In 1974 he was drafted in the fifth round by the Miami Dolphins. The Texas native headed north to play for the Roughriders in 1976. That year he was the MVP defence in Saskatchewan's 23-20 Grey Cup loss to Ottawa. His playing days with the 'Riders came to an end in 1980 but Cleveland remains a fan favorite. He was named to Saskatchewan's all-century team and was also inducted in the 'Riders Plaza of Honor in 2000.

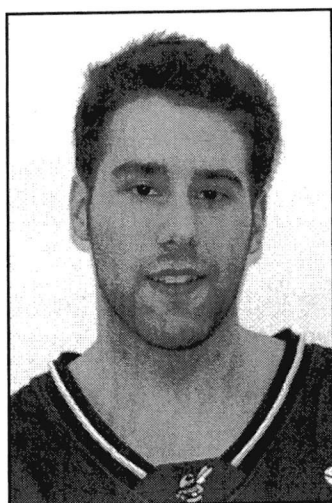

• Vann set a high school (Balfour Collegiate) and RIBL record when he scored a career-high 64 points (25-39 FGs, 10-20 3FGs, 4-6 FTs) in a 113-66 victory over Regina LeBoldus on Dec. 19, 2002 in Regina.

• Vann was born in Texas but moved to Regina when he was three years old. He is now a Canadian citizen.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Levi is a pure shooter. He can turn a game around with his ability to shoot the three. He has come along defensively through the course of the season. Physically, he is the strongest guy on the team.

Brief Sketch:

• Martin, the rookie, is one of the most outgoing and genial athletes around the Concordia sports complex, prompting coach Dore to say, "He's got a great personality. He's a great guy on and off the court. In this regard, he will pick up where Patrick Perrotte leaves off."

• Martin comes from Granby, Que, located about an hour south-east of Montreal. It's most famous for being the home of a world-renowned zoo. For most Concordia home games Martin's family and friends come to support him. More than 30 people came from Granby for the Concordia-Laval championship.

• With CEGEP Granby in 2006, Martin was MVP of the Eastern Townships CEGEP AA men's basketball league. His team won its league championship by beating Shawinigan 63-59 in the final. He had 17 points in the championship.

• On March 8, 2007, Martin volunteered for the Canadian Centre for Ethic in Sport (CCES). He filmed a video segment aimed at youth aged 14-21 and dealing with marijuana use in sport. It will be part of an anti-cannabis campaign CCES launches in September.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Sébastien has come along way from playing at CEGEP AA Granby last year. He is our most improved player this year. He is getting more and more playing time. He's been scoring for us lately. He's also been defending and rebounding well. He has progressed to the point where we can rely on him off the bench. He is very strong and competitive inside

Brief Sketch:

- Pierre Thompson was MVP of his high school basketball team at Notre Dame Secondary School in 2005.

- He was Concordia basketball's rookie of the year in 2006.

- Thompson is studying Political Science with an eye towards getting into law school when he finished his undergraduate work.

- Coming out of Ontario high school in 2005, Thompson was much younger than his Quebec counterparts who spend two or three years in the Quebec CEGEP system after high school. It was really quite amazing when four days short of his 18th birthday he suited up for the Stingers versus the No. 1-ranked Duke Blue Devils at Cameron Indoor Stadium in Durham, N.C. Thompson played 12 minutes, picking up four points and one assist in the 123-66 loss.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Pierre is one of the youngest players I've ever coached at Concordia. He just turned 19 last November. When he first came to us in September of 2006 he was still 17 years old. These days, he's been playing beyond his years. He is quick and strong. He's a great defender. He can run and this year he's learned to shoot the 3.

At six-foot-seven and 270 pounds it's no surprise that Desmond Murphy was an all-star football player at Loyola high school in Montreal. He was also an outstanding basketball player and helped his Loyola Warriors win the Quebec provincial championship in 2002-'03.

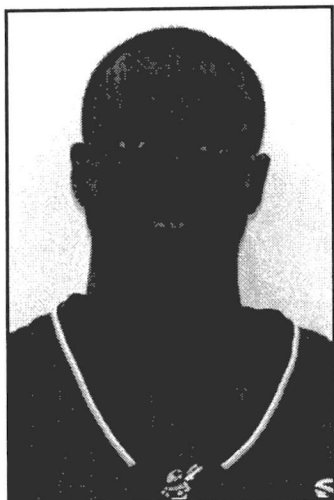

Desmond's involvement with the Stingers carries on a family tradition. His father Harold also wore the school colors. He played basketball at Loyola College, which merged with Sir George Williams University in 1974 to form Concordia. Harold works at Concordia as a manager of compensation services in the human resources department. He rarely missed a Stingers game.

Desmond's sister Lizanne is the captain of Hofstra University women's basketball team. In her four years in the U.S. she has scored more than 1,000 points and is fourth on Hofstra's all-time scoring and rebounding lists. She has a 3.6 GPA in biology and is considering medical school. The six-foot-one forward attended Dawson College in Montreal and played Blues basketball just like her brother Desmond.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Desmond is a big, physical player. We use him to rebound and defend. He is developing well as on offensive post.

Henri Sarr is originally from Dakar, Senegal where he's played most of his basketball including with the national team in 2002. He moved to France and picked up basketball with the AS Maison Alfort community team in 2006. He joined the Stingers in the fall of 2006.

He lists DeSagana Diop, a fellow Senegalese basketball player now with the NBA's Dallas Mavericks, as a friend. Also from Dakar, Diop checks in at seven feet, 270 pounds.

Comments from head coach John Dore: Henri is a good athlete. He can rebound and run the court well. He is capable of scoring in double digits.

Paget Berridge was one of the top recruits coming out of the Quebec CEGEP system in 2004, along with Concordia's Dwayne Buckley. As he wrapped up his career with the Vanier College Cheetahs, he accepted a scholarship to Gannon University, a division II school in Erie, Pennsylvania. He used one year of eligibility in the U.S. He sat out the 2005-'06 season and joined the Stingers last September.

Comments from head coach John Dore: : Paget may be one of our best athletes. He can shoot the 3. He has an uncanny ability to penetrate and finish.

JOUEUR VEDETTE DES STINGERS DE CONCORDIA

■ Patrick Perrotte a enfilé 20 points contre Kevin Watson, Cam McDonald et compagnie, mais il lui en aurait fallu beaucoup plus pour satisfaire son appétit...

VICTOIRE CONTRE BISHOP, MAIS...

« Il aurait fallu les battre par 40 points »

- Patrick Perrotte

SERGE VLEMINCKX

Ils venaient de gagner, 78 à 69, et de porter leur dossier à cinq gains contre aucun revers; pourtant le vestiaire des Stingers de l'université Concordia avait des airs de salon funéraire.

On croyait que ce sentiment de désolation avait quelque chose à voir avec la perte du meneur de jeu Damian Buckley. Avec quelques minutes à faire dans le match, il s'est effondré; ça ressemblait à une sérieuse blessure à une cheville. On a même vu les soigneurs se présenter à la porte du vestiaire avec des béquilles.

Mais il y avait eu plus de peur que de mal.

« Ce n'est qu'une crampe... Non, ce vestiaire n'est pas joyeux tout simplement parce que ces gars-là savent très bien qu'ils ont offert la pire performance depuis longtemps à Concordia », soulignait l'entraîneur John Dore après avoir fait attendre les médias pendant près d'une

Il sait maintenant

Il n'aurait pas fallu que les Stingers perdent Buckley. Il est plus que jamais le cœur de cette équipe. L'an dernier, il a succédé à une légende à Concordia, Philippe Langlois. Cette année, il est... Damian Buckley.

Hier, il a terminé le match avec 20 points, dont un rendement de huit en neuf sur les tirs de pénalité. Mais il a surtout réussi deux gros jeux défensifs consécutifs (un vol de balle et une passe d'un rival déviée vers un coéquipier). Ces deux jeux ont mené à des répliques offensives des Stingers qui ont creusé l'écart à dix points, et ce avec un peu moins de quatre minutes à faire dans le match.

« J'ai encore plus de satisfaction à réussir des jeux clés en défense parce que j'ai réalisé qu'il y a de bons joueurs offensifs sur notre équipe. Il est important pour moi de bien faire en défense pour relancer l'attaque. Cette année, je comprends mieux le rôle de la

Avant les matchs du week-end, seulement quatre équipes dans tout le pays n'avaient pas encore subi la défaite en 2006 au basket-ball universitaire; les Stingers de Concordia faisaient partie de ce groupe sélect.

Confortablement installé sur une chaise dans le hall d'entrée du complexe sportif Loyola, le vétéran de cinquième et dernière saison Patrick Perrotte admet qu'il a « retrouvé » son équipe d'il y a deux ans, celle qui avait atteint la grande finale canadienne.

« L'an dernier, nous avions sur papier une très bonne équipe. On comptait sur plusieurs recrues de talent, mais on se cherchait sur le terrain; certains ne savaient pas vraiment quel rôle jouer. Cette saison, la chimie est de retour. »

Faut dire que, l'an dernier, Perrotte avait perdu un vieux complice, son chum Philippe Langlois. « Notre complicité remontait à bien avant nos années universitaires; quand le meneur de jeu (point guard) te cherche constamment du regard c'est toujours plus facile. »

Le Matrix ou l'Europe ?

Un retour de Concordia en finale du championnat canadien en mars prochain donnerait à Patrick une belle vitrine, lui qui souhaite jouer au niveau professionnel l'an prochain, avec le Matrix ou ailleurs.

« JE POURRAIS UN JOUR DIRE À MES ENFANTS QUE J'AI JOUÉ CHEZ LES PROS »

Soyons honnêtes, le Matrix a perdu pas mal de plumes auprès des jeunes joueurs québécois. Philippe Langlois a quitté l'équipe l'an dernier avant la fin de la saison quand on a cessé de lui verser un salaire.

« Le Matrix a une image d'organisation de broche à foin, mais j'ai bon espoir que les choses se replacent. Il y a aussi une autre porte intéressante, la France. »

« L'été dernier, j'ai participé, en compagnie d'autres joueurs élités du Québec à une tournée en Europe. J'en suis revenu, convaincu de pouvoir jouer chez les pros. »

« Que ce soit à Montréal ou en Europe, j'aimerais ça être payé pour jouer au basket et ce, même si ce n'était que pour deux ou trois ans. Je pourrais un jour dire à mes enfants que j'ai joué chez les pros. »

Pas le même univers...

L'an dernier, Perrotte et les Stingers avaient eu le privilège d'affronter le prestigieux programme universitaire américain Duke.

Le gros attaquant québécois avait eu droit aux louanges du légendaire coach Mike Krzyzewski après la rencontre, et ce, malgré un score de 123 à 66 en faveur de Duke.

Perrotte est un athlète toujours souriant, mais son regard se durcit quand vient le temps des comparaisons entre le basket-ball universitaire américain et les rangs universitaires canadiens.

« J'aurais aimé grandir dans un système où je n'aurais eu à me concentrer que sur le basket-ball et les études. Mais quand tu dois aussi gagner des sous pour mettre la nourriture sur la table, c'est du temps de moins pour t'entraîner et te consacrer à ton sport. »

On ne saura jamais

C'est parfois bien difficile d'écrire l'histoire d'une équipe universitaire au Québec. Récemment, l'attaquant Patrick Perrotte a marqué 36 points dans un match des Stingers. On ne pourra toutefois jamais savoir s'il s'agit d'une marque d'équipe pour le plus haut total de points marqués dans un match par un joueur. On peut seulement vous confirmer que c'est une première en 13 ans.

Oliver, la voix des Cavaliers

C'est un Montréalais qui est la nouvelle voix des Cavaliers de Cleveland de la NBA. Il s'agit d'Oliver Sedra. Le jeune homme était l'annonceur maison aux matchs des Stingers de Concordia depuis quelques années. Il a envoyé une bande vidéo de quelques présentations de joueurs à plusieurs équipes de la NBA et les Cavaliers lui ont fait signe.

Le dernier match de Ben et de Pat

Il s'agissait du dernier match à domicile de leur carrière pour Benjamin Sormonte et Patrick Perrotte. Ben a terminé la rencontre avec 25 points, dont un total incroyable de sept paniers de trois points réussis en huit tentatives.

Eblouissant, quand on sait que la note d'excellence dans ce domaine est de 30 pour cent! Perrotte, lui, a terminé avec 23 points. «Que puis-je demander de plus beau comme fin de carrière ici, dans ce gymnase où j'ai connu tellement de grands moments?»

"What more can you ask for?"

That was the phrase that kept going around the hallways and locker room as the 2006-2007 Stingers handily defeated the Laval Rouge et Or 84-57 in a spectacular performance that garnered several standing ovations throughout the evening and lasting well into the awards ceremony.

Again, what more can you ask for? A sold out gym full of Concordia faithfuls - check. Two senior stars, in their last home game ever, playing their hearts out - check. The entire team running on all cylinders, suffocating the opponent, allowing Laval to make only 27 field goals on the night - check and check. From individual performance, hitting seven three-pointers and just missing once.

"I wanted to miss one," jokes Sormonte, in the after-game celebrations, "It was a great feeling, great atmosphere. We played amazing team defense. I'm very happy to end on a good note like this, and now we have one more step to do."

"We're in control of our own destiny, if we play hard, take care of business, it's not going to be a problem."

—Dwayne Buckley

That last step is obviously the national Canadian University Sport championship in Halifax this weekend. But Sormonte wasn't the only one feeling thrilled with the teams last performance.

"This was our last chance," said Quebec MVP Patrick Perrotte, "Everybody showed up today and we got to end the last home game in a big way."

described in mere numbers. This was clear during the medal ceremony as Perrotte received the biggest cheers from the home crowd.

As the head coach John Dore remarked, "storybook ending, couldn't have gone out a better way at home." It would be hard to disagree with that sentiment.

Coming into Friday's Quebec Student Sports Federation Final, for the first time in a decade the Stingers finally moved to no. 1 in the national rankings. This is significant because, by winning their final game, the team received a first place seeding for the CIS Championship. Their first opponent is on Friday, March 16, against the Saint-Mary's Huskies at 1 p.m. Atlantic time.

"It's for us to lose, since we're number one," said Stinger, and QSSF Defensive Player of the Year Dwayne Buckley. "We're in control of our own destiny. If we play hard, take care of business, it's not going to be a problem."

The team's last appearance in the championship game was two years ago when they received silver. So as they go out east to play their final three games, anything less than gold will be a disappointment after all that they've accomplished this season. TSN is scheduled to broadcast one of the two semi-final games on Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m. Eastern and also the Championship final match on Sunday at 3:30 p.m. Eastern.

Stingers almost perfect in blowout

SECOND CONFERENCE TITLE IN 3 YEARS

It was as close to perfection as it gets for a team that left no doubt why it's ranked No. 1 in the country.

The Concordia Stingers, with fifth-year seniors Ben Sormonte and Patrick Perrotte leading the way in the last home game of their university careers, blasted the Laval Rouge et Or 84-57 in the Quebec men's university basketball conference sudden-death final before a capacity crowd of more than 500 at Concordia Gym last night.

Sormonte's 25 points, highlighted by a 7-for-8 performance from the 3-point line, and 23 from Perrotte, a must-be first-team all-Canadian this season, powered the Stingers to their second conference title in three years.

The Stingers head into the CIS Final 8 national championship in Halifax next weekend with the tournament's No. 1 seed firmly in hand and riding a 10-game winning streak dating back to their only loss (Jan. 12), going 17-1 overall this season in conference play.

"Coach (John Dore) always talks to us about playing the perfect game. I don't know if this was it tonight, but it was very good," said Sormonte, who also had six assists and a steal.

"We played so well. Defence was incredible. We shot well. We rebounded. We shared the ball around.

"This feels really good, but it's sad, too, for me because I've played here for the last time."

The Stingers led 39-25 at half-time, but only after overcoming a brief lapse, when after getting off to a good start, they found themselves down 15-10 after six minutes.

But the wakeup call came shortly after, and fighting back, with Perrotte hitting back-to-back baskets to tie the score 17-17, the Stingers went on a 22-8 run the rest of the half.

That run was kick-started by a couple of slashing power drives to the hoop by third-year forward Dwayne Buckley, and then back-to-back 3-pointers from Sormonte.

"Things got started there with Dwayne taking the ball inside, which left Ben open on the outside," said Dore, dripping from the ice-water shower he received from his players in the celebration after a more-than-impressive victory.

The Stingers, who also got 13 and 12 points from Buckley and his younger brother, Damian, respectively, came out on fire to start the second half and rolled to a 54-33 lead in the first four minutes.

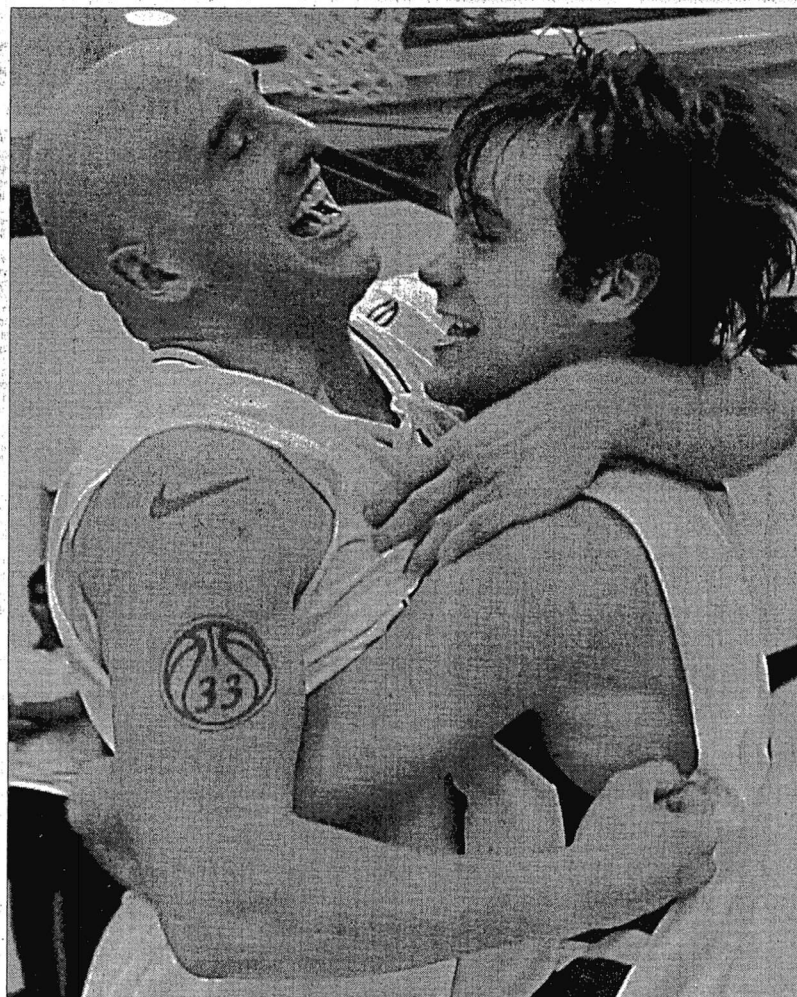

They stretched the lead to 32 points (80-48) with 5:17 remaining in the game.

So great was the gap that it allowed Dore to take Damian Buckley, who also had eight assists, off for good with 4:01 to play. Perrotte and Sormonte joined their offensive quarter-back less than a minute later.

"Hats off to Concordia. They fully merited this win," said Laval head coach Jacques Paiement, who, in a classy move after the game, had his players stay on the court to watch the Stingers raise the championship banner and cut the net down.

"You saw a team fully prepared for this game, but also one that played very, very well," Paiement said.

BASKET-BALL / ATHLÉTISME

À guichets fermés!

■ Le gymnase montréalais est trop petit pour accueillir la finale Concordia-Laval

SERGE VLEMINCKX

Petit conseil : ne vous présentez pas au campus Loyola de l'Université Concordia ce soir. Tous les billets pour la finale du circuit québécois de basket-ball, entre le Rouge et Or de l'Université Laval et les Stingers, ont été vendus.

C'est un grand moment qui attend les « chanceux » qui se seront trouvés une place dans le petit gymnase.

D'ailleurs, à quand un vrai stade de basket-ball à Montréal, une ville de plus en plus moche pour le monde du sport? Au Québec, on a des sous pour agrandir le PEPS de l'Université Laval, à Québec, mais pas une c... de cenne pour la grande région de Montréal... Reste à trouver un ancien des Stingers riche à craquer et prêt à bâtir un stade de basket-ball à Concordia.

Bon, revenons au match. Place à un match mémorable. Au basket-ball universitaire masculin, un affrontement entre le Rouge et Or de l'Université Laval et les Stingers, c'est l'équivalent d'un match Canadien-Nordiques à l'époque où le hockey était joué par des vrais... au Québec.

Prêts

Quand on demande à l'entraîneur John Dore si ses Stingers sont prêts à renverser le dernier obstacle les séparant du titre canadien, la réponse ne tarde pas. « Je ne crains pas de l'affirmer, les Stingers sont

prêts physiquement et mentalement. »

La troupe montréalaise se retrouve cette semaine numéro un au pays pour la première fois depuis 10 ans. Ça laisse Dore presque froid. « Il nous reste quatre matchs à gagner (la finale du Québec et le tournoi du championnat canadien) pour être les meilleurs au pays. C'est pas mal plus important que d'être élus par un vote. » C'est connu, le sport et la politique, ce n'est pas pareil.

Du respect pour le Rouge et Or En saison régulière, les Stingers ont balayé les honneurs de la série de quatre matchs. Mais s'il vous plaît, respectez la troupe de Jacques Palement. Ne tassez pas du revers de la main une équipe qui en est à sa septième participation consécutive à la finale du circuit québécois.

On ne parle surtout pas contre les chances d'une formation alignant un Jean-Philippe Morin. Ce gars-là a tous les talents, notamment celui d'exceller au bloc.

Non, ce n'est pas facile de jouer contre les Stingers dans leur très petite « maison ». Mais Jacques Palement souligne un point intéressant.

« Ce n'est jamais facile à Concordia, mais j'aime l'ambiance qui y règne, ça sent le basket-ball. Et ceux qui performant aiment se retrouver dans un tel contexte. »

Stingers top seed at CIS Final

Face No. 8 Huskies in hoops opener

RANDY PHILLIPS

Concordia, as expected, is the No. 1 seed for the Canadian Interuniversity Sport Final Eight men's basketball championship in Halifax.

The Stingers, 17-1 in conference play, were No. 1 in the final national rankings before winning their second Quebec conference championship in three years with an 84-57 blowout of the Laval Rouge et Or on Friday.

Concordia will face the eighth-seeded Saint Mary's Huskies in the first quarterfinal of the national championship Friday. Saint Mary's upset the regular-season champion Cape Breton Capers in the Atlantic conference semifinals to earn the second of two berths for Atlantic teams.

Other quarterfinal matchups and seeds: No. 4 Brandon Bobcats (Canada West finalist) face the No. 5 Windsor Lancers (Ontario champion) at 2 p.m.; No. 2 British Columbia Thunderbirds (Canada West champion) play the No. 7 Ottawa Gee-Gees (wild card from Ontario) at 5 p.m.; and the No. 3 Carleton Ravens (Ontario finalist) tip off against the No. 6 Acadia Axemen (Atlantic champion) at 7 p.m.

Ottawa earned the wild-card after an 18-4 regular season that ended with a 65-63 loss to Carleton in the OUA East final. But the Gee-Gees defeated the four-time national champion Ravens in both regular-season meetings.

Concordia won a national title in 1990 and lost in the final to Carleton two years ago.

Sherbrooke tops on track: Université de Sherbrooke won a record fifth men's title, and Calgary upset Windsor for the women's crown as the CIS Track and Field national championships came to a close at McGill Saturday.

Sprinter Ben Youssef Meité anchored Sherbrooke's strong performance as the Vert & Or captured the men's title for the third time at McGill. No other Quebec school has won a national team title.

Meité, who was named the top male performer at the three-day championships, won gold medals in the 60-metre, 300 and 4x200 relay, in which Sherbrooke clocked a CIS record time of one minute, 26.01 seconds.

Jessica Zelinka of Calgary, the CIS athlete of the year, was the top female performer, winning five golds and a silver. She won the pentathlon Thursday, shot put, long jump and 60-metre hurdles Friday, and added a gold in the 4x400 relay Saturday.

Zelinka, who set a CIS meet record in the pentathlon as well as fieldhouse records in shot put and 60 hurdles, took silver in the 4x200.

Sherbrooke's men finished with 138 points, followed by defending champion Windsor at 109.5 and Western with 56.5.

McGill's men compiled 14 points to place 14th among the 24 teams competing. Université Laval was 18th with one point.

Calgary won the women's title with 103 points. Second and third went to Windsor and Toronto, with 86 and 76 points, respectively.

Université de Montréal was the best of the Quebec schools, finishing 10th with 26 points thanks in large part to Martine Cloutier-Leblanc, who won gold in the 300, and silvers in the 60 and 600. McGill was 14th with 13 points.

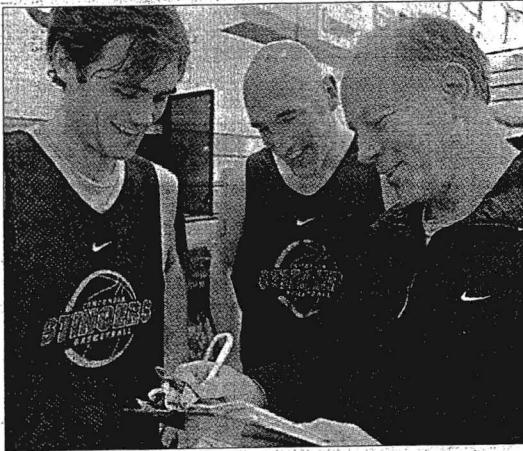

Host McGill failed to win a medal at the championships, but saw strong performances from Keith Esch, who was fourth in the men's high jump, and Jessica Warren, fifth in the 1,000 and sixth in the 1,500.

SPOTLIGHT Stingers' Patrick Perrotte and Ben Sormonte don't want a repeat of last year

Aim to go out in glory

Concordia's Patrick Perrotte and Ben Sormonte are approaching the end of their university basketball careers and neither wants to go out with a whimper.

The two are the only fifth-year players in the lineup for the No. 2-ranked Stingers, who enter the Université du Québec à Montréal Citadins in a Quebec conference sudden-death semifinal at Concordia Gym tonight at 7, and both know how close they are to the ultimate prize — the CIS Final Eight national championship tournament in Halifax in two weeks.

"We know what happened to us last year," Perrotte said of a devastating 102-90 loss at home to the Citadins in the semifinal a year ago. "I'm using that to motivate myself. I don't want my career to end (tonight)."

Perrotte is a 6-foot-1 senior from Verdun who was named league MVP this year and made the first all-star team for the fifth consecutive year. A power forward who always has played bigger than his size against often bigger opponents, he was a second team all-Canadian last year and should be a first-team pick this time around.

Sormonte, a 6-foot-3 shooting guard from Aix-En-Provence, France, returned to Concordia this year for his final season of college eligibility after pursuing a master's degree in finance at École des Hautes Études Commerciales at the Université de Montréal. This actually is Sormonte's third season with the Stingers after he transferred from the University of South Alabama following two seasons with the NCAA Division I Jaguars of the Sun Belt Conference.

Please see STINGERS, Page C3

STINGERS Two stars complement each other

Sormonte didn't endure the disappointment of a season that ended prematurely last year, but haunting his memory is a 68-48 loss to Carleton in the final of the 2005 national championship in Halifax.

One of the reasons he returned to Concordia, was to end his career alongside Perrotte.

"Pat has meant so much to this team. Everything he's done ... well, it's always been about this team," said Sormonte, who was named to the second all-star team this season.

"I don't think anyone has given as much as Pat has, and for me to play with him has been great. It's something I'll never forget."

On the court, the two complement one another with a staggering effectiveness.

Perrotte plays a relentless inside power game, and averaging more than 17 points a game with the best field-goal percentage in the league (57.8), he was a big reason the Stingers went 15-1 to win a third consecutive regular-season title. He also tied for third in the league in offensive rebounds.

Sormonte is one of the top 3-point threats in the country, hitting 40 of 102 attempts (40.2 per cent) this season. He sank five 3s in the first half before finishing with a game-high 23 points to lead the Stingers past UQAM 102-63 in the last of four regular-season games against the Citadins Friday.

"Ben has made a huge difference in our offence this season," Perrotte said. "His shooting outside took a lot of pressure off me inside. He gives other teams something else they have to think about."

"Playing with him this year has been a lot of fun, but we both know the job isn't finished," Perrotte said.

The Concordia Stingers are right where they want to be – almost.

The Stingers are ranked No. 1 in Canadian university men's basketball for the first time this season and take that lofty position into their most important game of the season – against the Laval Rouge et Or in the sudden-death Quebec conference final tonight at 7 at Concordia Gym.

The game is a sellout.

On the line is a trip to the CIS Final 8 national-championship tournament, to be held in Halifax next weekend.

"I don't think with the ranking comes more pressure," head coach John Dore said. "It is a good feeling, a sense of achievement. A reward. But it's not the end of things for us. It's more the start of something and it's an exciting time for our guys.

"They do realize they still have to take care of business."

The Stingers are top-ranked in the country for the first time in more than a decade and face a team they've owned, winning all four regular-season games, three by 10 points or more.

But forward Patrick Perrotte, a top candidate for first-team all-Canadian honours in his final season, knows the regular season is ancient history and expects the Rouge et Or to be at the top of their game.

"They've got guys who are very good players, three especially in (Jean-Philippe) Morin, (Jean-François) Beaulieu-Maheux, and (Jean-Michel) Leblanc," said Perrotte, conference player of the year. "We have to try to stop at least two of them, but it's important we concern ourselves with everyone on that team, because they play well as a unit."

Morin and Beaulieu were 1-2 in scoring in the league, averaging 20.3 and 20.0 points a game, respectively.

Morin's 10.77 rebounds a game also was best in the country.

"Laval is probably playing their best basketball right now," said Dore. "They've got guys who can go off on you. We have to control their shooters and keep Morin off the boards."

Laval finished the regular season in second place at 9-7, 12 points behind Concordia at 15-1, and defeated McGill 83-69 in their sudden-death semifinal.

The Stingers advanced to the final with a 84-75 win over Université du Québec à Montréal in a game Concordia allowed to be closer than it should have been.

Perrotte is banking on things being different tonight.

"We came out slow in the semifinal. Even the veterans were a bit shaky, for whatever reason," Perrotte said. "I don't think that's going to be a problem this week, because we all know what's involved. We expect a tough game from Laval, but we've had a good week of preparation."

Concordia spent the previous five weeks ranked second in the country and hasn't been lower than eighth all season.

The advantage of being No. 1 a week before the national championship is that the Stingers would get first consideration as a wild card to complete the eight-team tournament field in the event of a loss tonight.

Bishop's gets first team all-Canadian: Bishop's forward

Laure Pitfield was the lone Quebec conference player named to the CIS first all-Canadian team announced yesterday on the eve of the women's national basketball championship at Memorial University in St. John's.

McGill second-year guard Nathifa Weekes and Laval rookie Marie-Michèle Genois of Cap Santé were second-team selections. Genois also was named to the all-rookie team.

Saskatchewan forward Sarah Crooks received the Nan Copp Awards as the outstanding player in the CIS.

BEN SORMONTE decided to return to Concordia for his college basketball farewell

Back in the game

RANDY PHILLIPS THE GAZETTE

Ben Sormonte is determined to savour every moment he's on the basketball court this season.

The 6-foot-3 shooting guard from France has returned to the Concordia Stingers for his final year of college eligibility after missing last season to work on a master's degree in finance at École des Hautes Études Commerciales (HEC) at Université de Montréal.

"I missed basketball and just being around the guys a lot last year, especially after losing in the final the last year I played," said Sormonte, referring to a 68-48 loss to Carleton in the final of the 2005 national championship. "All I did was think about coming back for one more season.

"I am excited about this year. It's also a chance to end my career with Patrick (Perrotte). He's meant a lot to this team," Sormonte said.

Perrotte is a 6-foot-1 power forward from Verdun whom head coach John Dore says is "the heart and soul of this team." The team's top scorer and a second team all-Canadian last season, Perrotte and Sormonte are the only fifth-year seniors on the team.

Sormonte, 24, actually is in his third season with the Stingers, after having transferred from the University of South Alabama after two seasons with the NCAA first-division Jaguars.

The native of Aix-En-Provence said he missed the European flavour while living in Mobile, Ala., which prompted a move to Montreal after the 2002-03 season.

"I got tired of being where I was. I really wanted a European style of life," Sormonte said. "I had some friends who were in Montreal who said I would find (a European flavour) here. School-wise, Concordia also was better."

Sormonte has a undergraduate degree in finance and, after completing a year of graduate studies at HEC, he has six months before a thesis on an aspect of international management is due.

"It has to be 120 pages or so, so there's a lot of writing to do, but it also involves a lot of research," said Sormonte, whose classes at Concordia this year include Italian and Spanish, just enough to be eligible as a student-athlete. He hopes to be accepted to law school at McGill next year.

"Having Ben is a huge plus for us," said Dore, whose team plays host to the Quebec conference defending champion Université du Québec à Montréal Citadins at Concordia Gym tonight at 6. "He shows a lot of maturity on the court."

"He's a very bright kid, a 3.79 GPA (grade-point average) in finance is not something to scoff at," Dore said. "He actually tutors guys on the team and some guys on the football team in math and economics."

A three-point shooting threat, Sormonte averaged 13 points a game in 2004-05 and helped the Stingers to an 88-59 victory over the Bishop's Gaîtiers in the season opener in Lennoxville a week ago with 11 points and four steals.

One of three rookies in Concordia's lineup this season is 6-foot-6 forward Henry Sarr, of Paris, formerly with French club-team AS Maison Alfort, whom Sormonte has known since age 10.

"We played together for three years before I went to the States," Sormonte said. "I told him a lot about Montreal and Concordia and he decided he'd come. It's nice to have another guy from home on the team and I think he makes a good team stronger."

Concordia cagers seek title clincher

Can wrap up crown against Laval tonight

RANDY PHILLIPS
THE GAZETTE

The No. 2-ranked Concordia Stingers have two opportunities to clinch first place in the men's Quebec University Basketball League with home games this weekend, but be sure they don't want to put off until tomorrow what they can do tonight.

The 11-1 Stingers entertain the second-place Laval Rouge et Or (7-5) at 6 p.m., and the last-place Bishop's Gaiters at 4 p.m. tomorrow. Both games are the first of men's and women's doubleheaders at Concordia Gym.

Concordia third-year forward Dwayne Buckley says the team's strength this season has been the ability to get the job done when needed and he doesn't think anything should be different against Laval.

"Our focus, taking each game as it comes and concentrating on each game, has been very good all season," said Buckley, who is averaging almost 15 points a game in league play this season. "Laval always plays us tough, but getting home-court advantage for the playoffs is the next step to what we want to do this season and we don't want to lose sight of that."

Concordia is the frontrunner of the five teams in the league for the conference title. It would be the team's second crown in three years and means a trip to next month's national championship tournament in Halifax, where the Stingers reached the final in 2005.

The team has been ranked in the CIS weekly top 10 all season and second for the past three weeks, its highest spot since 2004-2005, when it was third for the last six weeks of the season.

Concordia's only loss this season was to the Université de Québec à Montréal Citadins, 84-71 on Jan. 12, the third of a four-game stretch without the services of sophomore point-guard Damian Buckley, Dwayne's brother.

The younger Buckley, sidelined for academic reasons, is one of the most effective players at his position in the country, offensively and defensively, and while his forced departure caught teammates by surprise, it wasn't as costly as it could have been because everybody else took it upon themselves to do more in his absence.

"In a way, what happened turned out to be positive for the team. It's forced guys into roles they hadn't been accustomed to," assistant coach Ernie Rosa said. "Dwayne, for example, was called on to do more scoring than before, and Ben (Sormonte, a fifth-year shooting guard) was forced into a role of having to distribute the ball as a point guard would."

"Everybody found a way to contribute more and because of that, we really grew as a team," Rosa said. "And when Damian came back, there was a new found energy."

Dwayne said team chemistry has improved throughout the season and helped the Stingers through some trying times in January, when his brother wasn't in the lineup.

"The guys this year really have become close in terms of trusting each other more on the court. That made everyone feel comfortable, especially those who came off the bench," he said. "I think it's why we're hitting on all cylinders right now."

Elsewhere tonight, the 6-8 McGill Redmen, who snapped a five-game losing streak with a 67-62 win over UQAM last week, are in Lennoxville to face the Gaiters, 49.

Perrotte selected top cager

Concordia forward Patrick Perrotte is the player of the year in Quebec university men's basketball.

The 6-foot-1 senior from Verdun, who was named to the league all-star team for the fifth consecutive year, is averaging 17.7 points a game this season for the No. 2-ranked Stingers and leads the Quebec conference with a 57.8 field goal percentage. He is tied for third in offensive rebounds.

Perrotte's teammate, third-year forward Dwayne Buckley of Montreal was named defensive player of the year. In addition to averaging 16.4 points per game, he is third in total rebounds, defensive and offensive rebounds.

John Dore, in his 18th season as head coach of the Stingers, was named coach of the year for the 11th time in voting by league coaches. Dore was CIS coach of the year in 1991.

The Stingers are 13-1 with two games remaining, including tomorrow night's home matchup with the UQAM Citadins at 6.

Joining Perrotte and Buckley on the first all-star team are Concordia point-guard Damian Buckley, Dwayne's brother, and Laval Rouge et Or forwards Jean-Philippe Morin and Jean-François Beaulieu-Maheux.

Beaulieu-Maheux was an unanimous choice as rookie of the year after leading the conference in scoring with 23.2 points a game. He also leads the conference in three-point shots made, blocked shots and defensive rebounds.

Bishop's Gaiters third-year forward Doug McCooeye is the conference nominee for the Ken Shields award as the student-athlete who best combines basketball, academics and community involvement.

Second team all-stars: McGill's Sean Anthony, UQAM's Marc-Olivier Beauchamps, Concordia's Ben Sormonte, Bishop's Emmanuel Junior Nicolas and McCooeye.

Mario Lessard was named top official by league coaches.

Stingers top-ranked

The Concordia Stingers have moved to No. 1 in the CIS men's weekly national rankings for the first time in more than a decade. The Stingers spent the last five weeks at No. 2. They play host to the Laval Rouge et Or in the Quebec conference sudden-death championship final tomorrow at 7 p.m. The Stingers have lost only once in conference and playoff games this season. The four-time defending national champion Carleton Ravens and British Columbia Thunderbirds moved up to second and third, respectively, in the rankings announced yesterday. Previously top-ranked Brandon dropped to No. 4.
